Reaching The Spot

It Has Been Done So Scores of Norway Citizens Say.

To get rid of an aching back, The sharp twinges, The tired-out feelings, You must reach the spot—get at the cause.

In many cases 'tis the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys.

Norway citizens testify.

M. M. Kilgore, farmer, Danforth St., Norway, Me., says: "I know of no other remedy like Doan's Kidney Pills. I had backache and rheumatic pain for more than a year. My kidneys were the cause of the trouble. Sometimes I was so lame I could hardly stand. I did not rest much and was feeling miserable when I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I got them at Stone's Drug Store, and a few boxes cured me. I never fail to recommend this remedy."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Cream Collector 27 Years

I did not know but it might be of some interest to some of the many readers of the Advertiser to learn that I have finished my work as cream collector and that it might also be of interest to note a few of the facts and changes that have come to the business since I started on the job.

I claim the honor of being longer in the service than any man in the state having commenced work May 1, 1887 and have continued in the business with the exception of one month until the present time.

I commenced to collect for the factory at West Paris when the business was in its infancy, working for them and more than doubling the business of my route from the first year, staying with this company 8 years and until the amount of work called for was too much for the money offered, when I started a route for the Turner Center Company of Auburn, May 1, 1895.

The first method of selling cream by the farmer to the factory was by the inch and was figured on the basis of 2 inches of cream raised in the cooler which would make one pound of butter, which method by the way was very unfair to the patron who was honest and a means whereby the man that was dishonest could reap some gain at the others expense.

But this plan of doing business was short lived as it proved very unsatisfactory and was soon changed to the space method. This plan called for each patron to do his own measuring and the collector was furnished with what was known as a space pail and the collector kept his own record in spaces.

A sample was taken by the collector marked with the patron's name, carried to the factory, tested for the amount of butter fat by the Babcock test and the patron was paid accordingly. On an average it took about 6 spaces of cream to make one pound of butter. This was on the basis of butter being 85 per cent. fat.

This method was an improvement on the inch method but not nearly as correct as the next plan which is now in general use throughout the country and was adopted by the Turner Center Company in July 1905 and has since been used by nearly all factories in the State. By this method all cream is weighed by the collector, a sample taken and sent to the factory where it is tested by the Babcock method and the amount of butter fat is ascertained and each patron paid accordingly.

This plan has given general satisfaction to the fair minded patron but you will find kickers in every business and of course this one has its share.

A later and still better plan was adopted by the Turner Center Company in July 1907, that of the individual can system whereby each patron furnishes his own cans, his cream is carried to the factory, weighed, sampled, tested and paid for by the amount of butter fat contained and every patron's cream stands on a level with the cream of others. The responsibility of the weighing and sampling from the collector to the factory thereby giving the kicker a chance to kick where it will be most effective.

At the present time many farmers are shipping their whole milk to the factory where they are paid a certain price per hundred pounds for their milk. In addition to the butter fat it contains. Some seem to think this the best way to dispose of the product.

There are several things to consider in connection with this plan. It eliminates the raising of pigs for market, your neighbor's cow keeps you from getting one. The distance from the railroad station or factory has much to do with the proposition as it must be quite a tax to be obliged to make a trip to the nearest station or factory two or three times each week to say nothing about the cost of cream to be shipped to the factory.

In this section is about 200 per hundred either to Auburn or Portland.

During my time of collecting, almost 27 years, there has been as great an improvement in the price of cream and milk as there has been in the method of handling. In the month of May of the year 1887 the patron received but 15 cents per pound for the factories for butter and the highest price paid in that year was 22 cents for butter which means about 25c per pound of butterfat. Compared with 39 cents paid this winter—a comparison and seems to be in favor of the cow.

To be sure we cannot expect these high prices to continue through the spring months and it is up to the producer to market their products in the way it will be to their best advantage and insure them the most profit for the time and money spent.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is fully closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHENEY & Co. Toledo, Ohio.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

THIS WOMAN'S SICKNESS

Quickly Yielded To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Baltimore, Md.—"I am more than glad to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. I suffered dreadful pains and was very irregular. I became alarmed and sent for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it regularly until I was without a cramp or pain and felt like another person, and it has now been six months since I took any medicine at all. I hope my little note will assist you in helping other women. I now feel perfectly well and in the best of health."—Mrs. AUGUST W. KONDNER, 1632 Hollins Street, Baltimore, Md.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact.

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, etc.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

NORTH BRIDGTON.

A Serious Accident.

Peter Hamlin, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hamlin, met with a serious accident while coasting, Friday afternoon. School had been dismissed for the day, and Esther and her school mate, Agnes Jordan, took a set of bob sleds and coasted down a hill back of the school building used by the children for a sliding place. The road near the foot of the hill runs between some pine trees.

They collided with one of these trees, striking Esther in the forehead, bursting blood vessels in her head, causing concussion of the brain, hemorrhage of the eyes and nose, also breaking her collar bone. She lies in a dangerous condition. Esther was a bright smart little girl and made friends where ever she went. She was a ninth grade student in the grammar school. Miss Jordan was uninjured.

Children's Column.

Bethel, Maine, Feb. 2, 1914.

DEAR EDITOR:—Why don't the girls and boys write for the paper? I am sliding on the ice. Do you like to slide? I am going to write a story about a boy and a pony.

Phil and His Pony.

Phil was a little fellow who had about everything he wished, but he wasn't quite happy. There was one thing his mama was afraid to let him have, and that, he wanted more than anything else, a real live pony.

Mama, hoping to pacify him, bought him a very nice velocipede, and papa got him a handsome horse, covered with horse-hide and set on springs, so he could use it in the nursery, but neither satisfied the much indulged boy.

"I don't want these things, they are for little boys. I want a real live pony like cousin Jack's", was all the thanks other parent received for their kindness.

"Well I suppose if he must have a pony, he must," said his mother at last, with a sigh, and his father agreed with her.

A week later, when they moved to the country for the summer, Phil found a pony in the stable with his father's horses. A little saddle and bridle hung in sight, and he had carried his point.

The pony seemed to be very gentle and James, the hired man, always went with his little master when he used him, so his mama had almost gotten over her fear, when one morning her darling was brought home with his leg broken. He had been in the habit of sending James back when he had gone a short distance, and he was only too glad to obey him.

This morning he had dismissed him as usual and a few minutes later the pony took fright at something by the roadside and started to run, poor Phil was thrown upon a rock and his leg broken by the fall. A farmer chanced to pass a minute later, and seeing the child, whom he first took to be dead, for Phil had fainted, he lifted him into the wagon and learning from someone where he lived, took him home.

Sunday.

A Winter Cough.

A stubborn, annoying, depressing cough hangs on, racks the body, weakens the lungs, and often leads to serious results. The first dose of Dr.

King's New Discovery gives relief.

Henry D. Sanders of Cavendish, Vt., was threatened with consumption, after having pneumonia. He writes:

"Dr. King's New Discovery ought to be in every family; it is certainly the best of all medicines for coughs, colds or lung trouble." Good for children's coughs. Money back if not satisfied.

Castor Oil At LastSomething That Science Tried To Get
for 3000 Years.

Good bye, drugs and pills!

The perfect laxative has arrived—

Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil—made tasteless by a method which chemists have tried to find for 3,000 years.

This is not a flavored or disguised castor oil. It is just pure castor oil without taste or odor.

Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil is a better castor oil than the old evil tasting, evil smelling kind. While none of the taste remains, none of the good has been taken out. Kellogg's Tasteless operates quickly and freely, without griping, causes no gas, and does not turn the stomach. Children take it easily and retain it.

The drug stores have all been supplied.

You have only to ask for Kellogg's

Tasteless Castor Oil, 25c or 50c also. It is not sold in bulk. The trade mark is a green castor leaf on the label, bearing the Kellogg signature.

Made only by Spencer Kellogg &amp; Sons,

Inc., Buffalo, N. Y., refiners of vegetable oils.

an instantaneous, rich, foaming lather, penetrating to every part of the hair and scalp. It is washed off just as quickly, the entire operation taking only a few moments. It leaves no lumps or stickiness.—Just a refreshing sense of cool, sweet cleanliness.—Just a dainty, pleasant and clean fragrance.—Both in odd-shaped ornamental bottles, with sprinkler tops.

Make Their Own Light.

Power of Many of the Common Plants and Animals is one of the Marvels of Nature.

Among the most remarkable of all natural phenomena is the marvelous light-giving power of many of our common plants and animals.

Under certain conditions nasturtiums, sunflowers, dahlias, tuberoses and y. llo lilies may be seen to glow with a radiance, varying in color and intensity.

Only those flowers that have an abundances of yellow or orange shades exhibiting this phosphorescence. The best time to see the light is after dark, when the atmosphere is clear and dry. The light is sometimes steady, but often intermittent and flashing.

Often, in the early fall, the ground will be illuminated by the glow from the dead leaves. The Australian poppy is the most remarkable of all the luminous plants, for it has been found to send out a light of its own of quite notable brilliancy.

Mushrooms growing on decayed wood often have a degree of brilliance that, when they are placed on a newspaper, will enable one to read the words in their vicinity with no other light. One species of mushroom in Australia, 16 inches in diameter, was of such brilliancy that,

seen from a distance, its light frightened the natives.

More interesting than the luminous plants are the luminous animals. The Pacific Coast, famous for the many original specimens of plant and animal life, is the home of many of them.

Of all these, the Ascidians are most noteworthy. One of them, the Pyrosoma
